NEW-YORK BANKERS MEET

James M. Beck Addresses Annual Convention at Frontenac.

Frontenac, N. Y., July 13.—Three hundred and fifty members were present to-day when President Charles H. Sabin, of Albany, called the New-York State Bankers' Association to order. The meeting was formally opened by a prayer by the Rev. Lawrence N. Sirrell, of Clayton. Immediately afterward Alfred H. Curtis, of New-York, president of the National Bank of North America, presented to the retiring president, Charles H. Sabin, a silver gavel. Following this President Sabin delivered the annual presidential address, pleading for conservative action in all business relations of the asso-

After reports by Secretary E. O. Eldridge, of Owego, and Treasurer David Cromwell, of White Plains, R. R. Flynn, president of the National Live Stock Bank, of Chicago, spoke to the members of the convention. He advocated government supervision of organized combinations. James M. Beck, of New-York, delivered the concluding address of the session. After commenting on the general discontent in this country with the abuses of wealth, Mr. Beck said:

Apart from this commendable intolerance of un-questioned abuses, the present agitation has in part its origin in less worthy considerations. It results in pair from the clash of ideals. A narrow spirit of literary diletantetism to some extent inspires it. The resthetic world, with its immense overvaiua-tion of its own sphere of activity, is at war with the practical. It cannot reconcile itself to the present extraordinary and evershadowing develop-ment of industrialism. The dominance of com-merce in the thoughts and activities of men has aroused the antusonism of many educated men, who see in its machinelike organization the anni-hilation of the individual.

GOULD DISSENSIONS.

Commission to Connor Now Given as Cause of Them.

A newly assigned reason for the dissensions existing among the Gould interests was said yesterday to be that George J. Gould paid to Washington E. Connor a commission of $750,000 to $1,000,000 for his services in obtaining for the Wabash, in the spring of 1901, the control of the Wheeling and Lake Erie. Possession of the latter property was essential to the success of the plans of Mr. Gould and his associates for bringing the Wabash into Pittsburg and ultimately extending the system to the Atlantic seaboard. An underwriting syndicate of about eighty members, known as the Pittsburg-Toledo Syndicate, was formed to raise $20,000,000, part of the money to be used in buying control of the Wheeling and Lake Erie and the rest in extending that line into Pittsburg.

Mr. Connor was a heavy stockholder in the Wheeling and Lake Erie, and other large blocks of the stock were held by Governor Herrick of Ohio and General Louis Fitzgerald. Negotiations were opened by the syndicate with Mr. Connor by which he should purchase a majority of the stock at 15 for the common and 35 for the preferred. Mr. Connor carried out his part of the agreement, but after the first call on the underwriters, for 10 per cent of their subscriptions, it is said, it was learned that Mr. Gould had, without the knowledge or consent of the syndicate, paid to Mr. Connor the commission referred to. Strong objection was raised by the syndicate members, who declared that Mr. Connor had acted both as principal and agent and was not entitled to receive any commission. The money was not returned. The Pittsburg-Toledo syndicate was in time called for the entire $20,000,000 of its subscription, receiving in return, in June, 1904, first and second mortgage bonds of the Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal Rallroad and common stock of the Wabash.

Mr. Connor, when asked yesterday about the commission said to have been paid to him, an-

I do not care to discuss the subject until Mr. Gould returns from abroad. He is really the only one to make a statement about it. All I can say is that other interests were ready at that time to pay a far higher price for the Wheeling and Lake Erie property than the Wabash. Detroit, July 12.-A demurrer to the declaration of the Michigan Central Railroad in the suit brought by the road for $6,000,000 damages, alleged to have been sustained by the repeal of the road's special charter by the State legislature in 1900, was filed to-day in the Wayne Circuit Court by Mr. Kirchner and Mr. Barkworth, special counsel for the

It is said that the act granting the Michigan Central the special charter in 1846 provided that in the event of the road's charter privileges being taken away at any time after thirty years by a two-thirds vote of the legislature the plaintiff should not be entitled to compensation for the value of the franchise granted in the charter.

BANKS WANT JAPANESE BONDS.

Chicago, July 13.-Subscriptions in Chicago to the Japanese loan are variously estimated at from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. While the oversubscription was regarded as larger than that of the previous loan, the subscribers were different. This time banks and banking houses predominated, while for the previous loan individual subscriptions were more numerous.

The bonds are selling at 91%. The subscription price for both loans was the same, 87%.

A few days ago, at the annual meeting of the Rutland concern, the receivers elected a board, in which they control a majority. The receivers have likewise asked the voting trustees who control the stock in the Herbert-Colvin syndicate, to allow them to name six out of the fifteen directors, to be thosen at the annual meeting of the Hudson Valey Railroad Company, on July 19.

The Herhert-Colvin syndicate, which holds two-thirds of the stock of the Hudson Valley Railway Company, has in its membership a number of the frectors of the Merchants' Trust Company When ated, and five voting trustees were named in the syndicate agreement, which does not expire for sev-eral months. "No sir, never."

"Where did you get the Information regarding prices to charge for oil."

"From the Standard Oil Company always."

"How did you instruct your salesmen here?"

"To say that the Republic Oil Company was an independent company, handling the Pennsylvania goods; that it had no connection with the Standard Oil Company, and was out for the business."

Mr. Shires said that when he was manager at St. Joseph for the Republic Oil Company he once had too much oil on hand and had telegraphed to Kansas City for instructions. He was ordered, he said, to transfer the oil to the Standard company, and he did so. He sometimes used the Standard's horses. Kansas City, Me., July 13.-The giving of rebates as a common practice to secure business was brought out to-day in the testimony of A. who was a witness at the hearing in the State's suit to oust the Standard Oil Company, the Republic Oil Company and the Waters Pierce Oil Company from Missouri. Mr. Shires was manager from November, 1961, to May, 1962, and came to Kansas City in June as assistant manager of the Republic Oil Company. He found the Standard and the National the only companies here, he said. He had charge of the tank business for the Republic, the lubricating oil department, and handled gasolene and kerosene for grocers. He was, he said, instructed to get after the National's customers.
